Specification

The examiner has not checked the specification to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors (grammatical, typographical and idiomatic). Cooperation of the applicant(s) is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant(s) may become aware of in the specification, in the claims and in any future amendment(s) that applicant(s) may file.

Applicant(s) is also requested to complete the status of any copending applications referred to in the specification by their Attorney Docket Number or Application Serial Number, if any.

The status of the parent application(s) and/or any other application(s) cross-referenced to this application, if any, should be updated in a timely manner to facilitate the prosecution of this application.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The rejection of claims 4-7 and 9 regarding the terminology "a polycarbonate" is hereby withdrawn.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 9 remains rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicants regard as the invention.

Applicants' arguments are noted but not convincing. The claim must be complete on its own irrespective of the teaching in the specification. Therefore, it is suggested that applicants amend the claim to recite "conditions effective" to produce product from feedstock to provide a complete process claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.

Art Unit: 1755

2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-7 and 9 remain rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over U.S. Patent No. 5,714,428 to Le-Khac, for the reasons set forth in the previous office action.

Response to Arguments

Applicants' arguments filed September 14, 2001 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Regarding the rejection under 35 USC 102, applicants apparently are arguing that since a polycarbonate is not exemplified, then the patentees could not have possession of applicants' claimed invention.

This is not convincing. A reference is valid for all that it discloses and Le-Khac specifically recites a polycarbonate. Therefore, contrary to applicants' assertions, Le-Khac does describe a DMC catalyst made with a polycarbonate. Regarding the comments that Le-Khac does not suggest that use of a polycarbonate would result in shortened reduction times or increased activity, the examiner considers that such would be inherent to the Le-Khac composition.

Regarding the rejection under 35 USC 103, the applicants apparently argue that there is somehow no motivation for picking the particular polycarbonate species, and there is certainly no way that the amount of polycarbonate could also be discovered.

This is not convincing. A reference is valid for all that it discloses and Le-Khac specifically recites a polycarbonate. Therefore, the motivation is simply that Le-Khac teaches such to be an effective catalyst component. Regarding selecting the appropriate amount, the applicants' claims recite exactly the same amount of polymer as that taught by Le-Khac. Accordingly, the examiner does not see how any "selection" is even necessary.

(In view thereof, applicants' arguments regarding unpredictability are also unconvincing. Le-Khac is concerned with the same catalyst components in exactly the same amounts for use in exactly the same process as applicants. The examiner sees no unpredictability whatsoever associated with the instant situation. The skilled artisan is clearly very able to employ the teachings of Le-Khac to arrive at the claimed invention with minimal modification. Therefore, it is more than reasonable to assume that the catalyst will function in a predictable manner.

In view of the foregoing, the examiner maintains that the preponderance of the evidence in this application supports anticipation and/or obviousness of the instantly claimed subject matter. Accordingly, the rejections stand.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicants are reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
